Webinar on “Career opportunities for electronics graduate in Canada”

On 13th October 2020, A webinar on ‘Career opportunities for electronics graduate in Canada’ was successfully conducted. The session was taken by a former ASIET alumni Mr. Akhil Sivaram B who is currently working as electronics technician at Radwell International in Canada. The session was highly informative and beneficial for all the students who participated. More than 50+ students participated in the webinar. The speaker talked about various kinds of benefits that we will be attaining when you are employed in a foreign country like Canada and about the educational system in Canada for those students who opt for higher studies. The participants were highly interactive and, shared their thoughts and doubts about the opportunities in Canada, the speaker was able to clarify all the queries that the students raised. The webinar was highly successful with a constant interaction between the speaker and the participants. The speaker shared his contact details to the participants, so that they could contact him whenever there is any queries or doubts regarding the topic and he could provide them with the required information.

The webinar was coordinated by the student coordinators, Dhanush Damodaran and Anmariya Santhosh of S7 EC-A and the faculty coordinators were Neetha K and Anju George, Assistant Professors of ECE Dept. A feedback form was shared with the participants to know their opinion about the talk and was found that the students participated had a very good experience and could find many informative contents regarding their next step in future. I would like to conclude by thanking the College and the ECE Department for bringing these kinds of talk and webinar to us, so that we could learn from it and make appropriate decisions for our future career.
